Introduction

Please remember that your use of our Website(s) and Services is at all times subject to the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy, which incorporates this Cookie Policy. We use cookies on our website to help us to enhance your user experience. This policy explains how.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files a website might put on your computer or mobile device when you first visit the site or a particular page. The cookie helps the website to recognise your device the next time you visit.

Cookies do lots of different jobs, like letting you navigate between pages efficiently, remembering your preferences, and generally improving the user experience. They can also help to ensure that adverts you see online are more relevant to you and your interests.

Cookies can:

- help us to remember your preferences
- analyse how well our website is performing
- contain personal information so you don't need to enter it twice (for instance, when you tick the 'Remember Me' box)

Cookies can be "First Party", i.e. set by us, or "Third Party" – set by another company to perform the function, for example Hotjar, Google Analytics or Advertising cookies. Use of Google Analytics and Google Adwords is subject to Google Privacy Policy, AdWords Terms & Conditions and Google Analytics Terms of Services. You can find out more about our use of Hotjar under End Users in their Privacy Policy.

How can I prevent Cookies being used?

When you first visit our website, unless you change your Cookies Settings, we will continue to set all Cookies on your device. You can find out how to do this for your particular browser by clicking "help" on your browser's menu or by visiting www.allaboutcookies.org.

However, please be aware that should you choose to disable cookies it may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website and some of the website may fail to work.
